Scuf Gaming Office Fit-Out

cobus

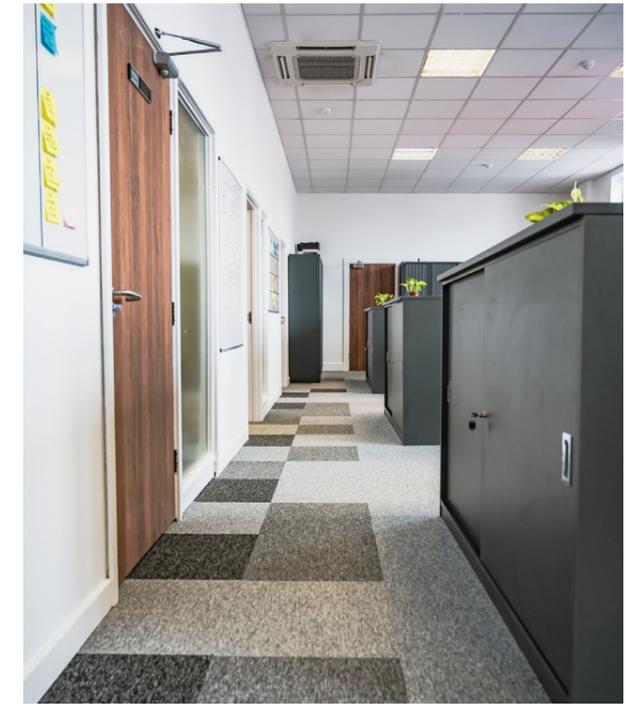

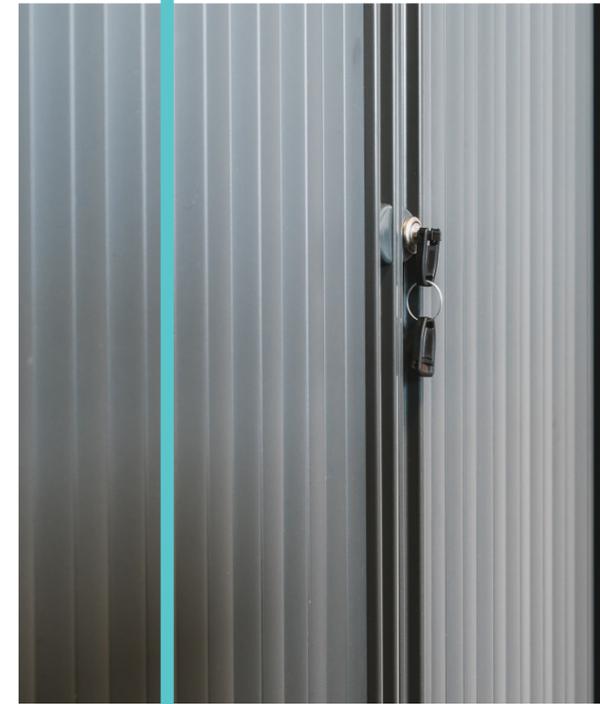

We recently worked with Scuf Gaming, a creator of high-performance, customised gaming accessories, on a project that involved creating a working environment that was completely unique to them – focusing particularly on anthracite coloured furniture and a bespoke carpet design. The client required us to fully manage, source from suppliers and execute the project over a period of three weeks.

The renovation works included removing two of their existing offices, carrying out redecorations and fitting new flooring and furniture in order to open the office and make it a more attractive space to work.

We received a very positive reaction from the client, despite the few challenges we faced along the way. The building's landlord went into administration, which meant that we were unsure if the project would go ahead. This caused further delays as the client was not able to access one of their promised rooms.

Our main highlight from the project was being able to see the finished result, with the feature wall and colour combinations that we hadn't used before. We've recently heard back from the client, who told us they were very happy with the way in which the project was managed and complimented us on our consistent communication throughout, as well as the finished result of the carpet, furniture, design and layout.

The client really appreciated the co-operation from our team at Cobus during the one-week hold-up by their landlord and said they would certainly recommend us.
