Stronghold Global Office Fitout

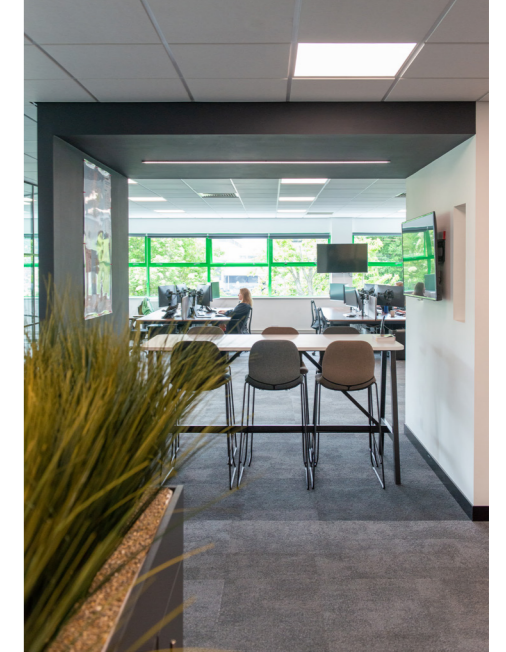

COBUS

Stronghold global were quickly outgrowing their office and warehouse space and made the decision to relocate offices. Their new lease buiding required updating and modernising to give Stronghold the fresh start it wanted.

Split across two floors, the new office space united all the teams operationally in a contemporary business environment. The brief for the office, was to create a design that would allow for future growth and stand the test of time. Designs were drawn up to allow for a further 10 permanent workstations which weren't included in this fitout. Throughout the space, meeting spaces and touchdown points were placed to allow employees to break away from their desks.

Their design style was in-keeping with current mid-century modern interior design. Utilising natural wood tones in the desks, tables and kitchens and choosing the simple, organic shape within the furniture choices created a clean, inviting workspace.
