Selmach Machinery

With their team growing and evolving, Selmach Machinery made the strategic and far-sighted decision to transform their office space to reflect their changing needs.

Their goal was an environment that promoted collaboration and performance, while blending functionality and style. In partnership with the client, careful planning was undertaken to accommodate a wide variety of working scenarios. Along with a mixture of individual and shared spaces, several private offices were incorporated, providing senior staff with the necessary focus and privacy demanded by their roles.

Generously proportioned workspaces offered flexibility for the wider team, while a striking breakout area and highly specified meeting rooms helped fuel collaboration and ignite creativity. Dark finishes and vivid feature lighting lent the space a modern, professional ambience, with a custom-designed kitchen for breaks and informal gatherings.

Upon its completion the refurbishment provided Selmach's burgeoning team with the perfect space in which to collaborate, innovate, and realise their full potential.
